

At-Risk Students Report

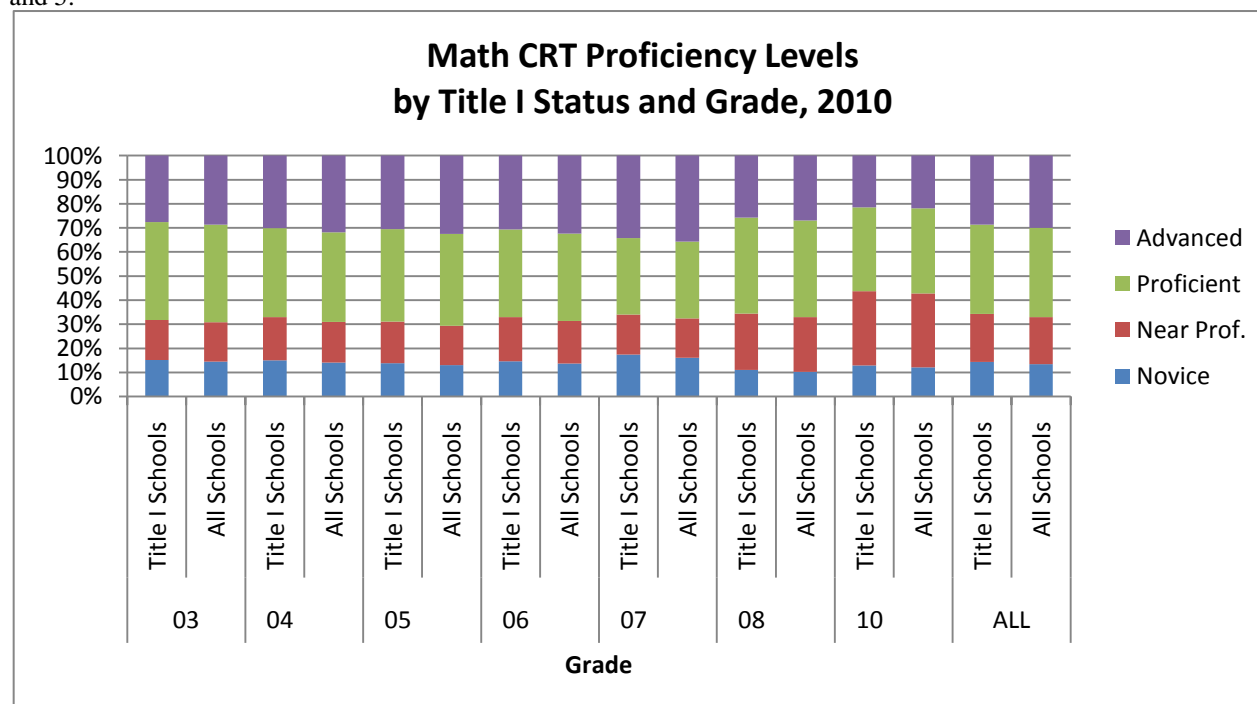

Montana's definition of a basic system of quality public elementary and secondary schools includes educational programs for at-risk students (20-9-309, MCA). State statute defines an at-risk student as a "student who is affected by environmental conditions that negatively impact the student's educational performance or threaten a student's likelihood of promotion or graduation" (20-1-101(4), MCA).

Beginning in FY 2007, the Montana Legislature provided $5 million annually to local school districts for educational services for at-risk students (see Appendix 1). The at-risk payment is distributed in the same manner as federal Title I monies. If a district is not eligible for Title I funding, it does not receive an at-risk payment. The funding was provided for three years, but was not funded for FY 2010 and FY 2011. The law which establishes the at-risk student payment also requires the Office of Public Instruction to report to the Governor and the Legislature on the change in status of standardized test scores, graduation rates, and dropout rates of at-risk students using fiscal year 2006 data as a baseline (20-9-328, MCA). This report provides that status.

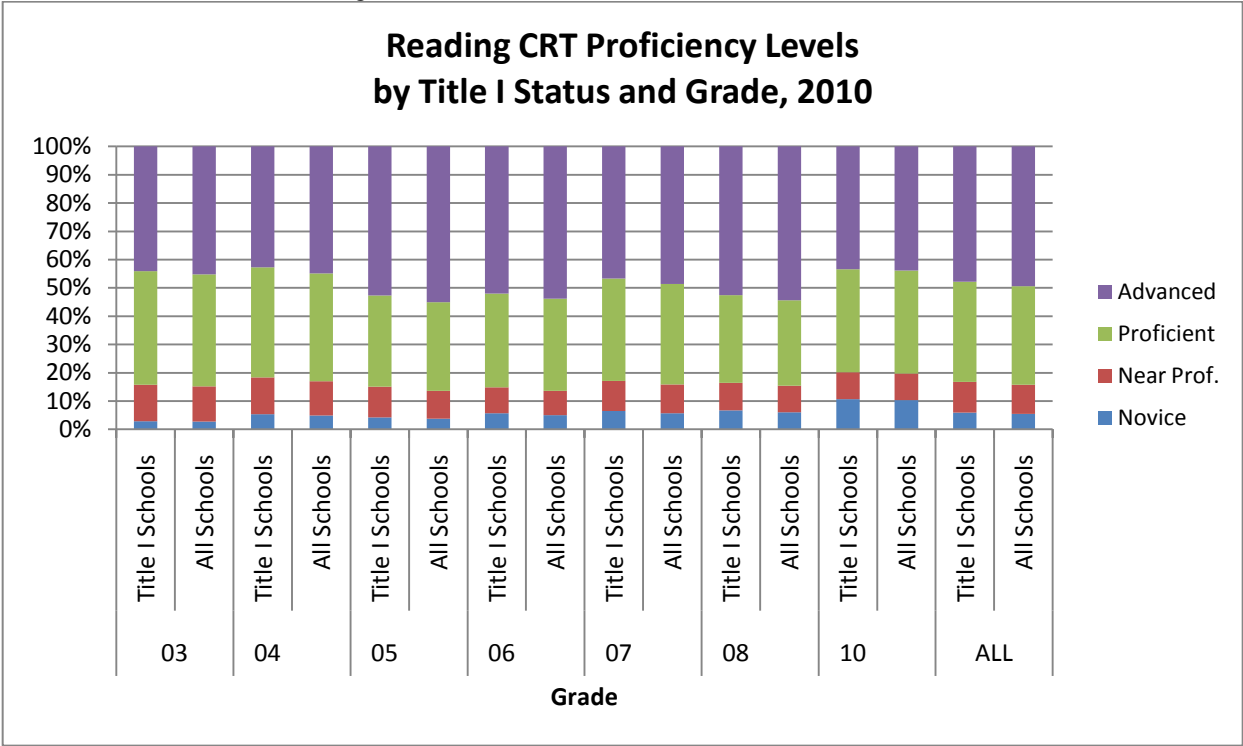

Population data – 2009-10 school year

- 108,676 students, or 77% of the PK-12 public school population, were enrolled in a school that received federal Title I funding.

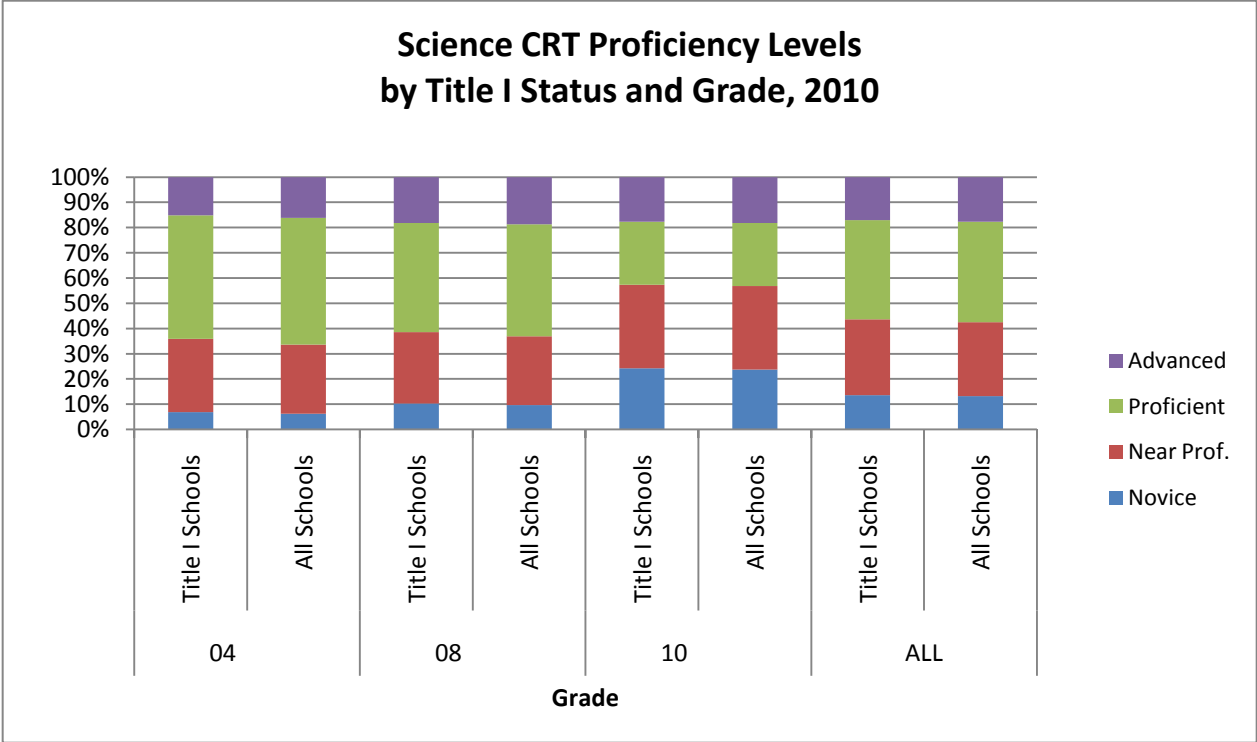

The chart below shows the percentages of students scoring at the Novice, Nearing Proficiency, Proficient, and Advanced levels on the Math Criterion Referenced Test (CRT) for the 2009-10 school year. The data are organized by the grade of the test taker and are provided for Title I (at-risk) Schools and for All Schools in Montana. For all grades, the percentage of students scoring at the Novice level is slightly higher for Title I Schools, and the percentage of students scoring at the Advanced level is slightly lower for Title I Schools. In addition, the percentage of students scoring below Proficient shows the same relationship to grade for both Title I Schools and All Montana Schools, with the highest percentage of students below Proficient at grades 8 and 10, and the lowest at grades 3, 4, and 5.

The chart below shows the percentage of students scoring at the Novice, Nearing Proficiency, Proficient, and Advanced levels on the Reading CRT test for the 2009-10 school year. The data are organized by the grade of the test taker and are provided for Title I (at-risk) Schools and for All Schools in Montana. For all grades tested, the number of students at the Advanced level is slightly lower for Title I Schools, and the total of students scoring below Proficient is slightly higher for Title I Schools. The highest number of below Proficient students occurs in 10th grade for both sets of schools.

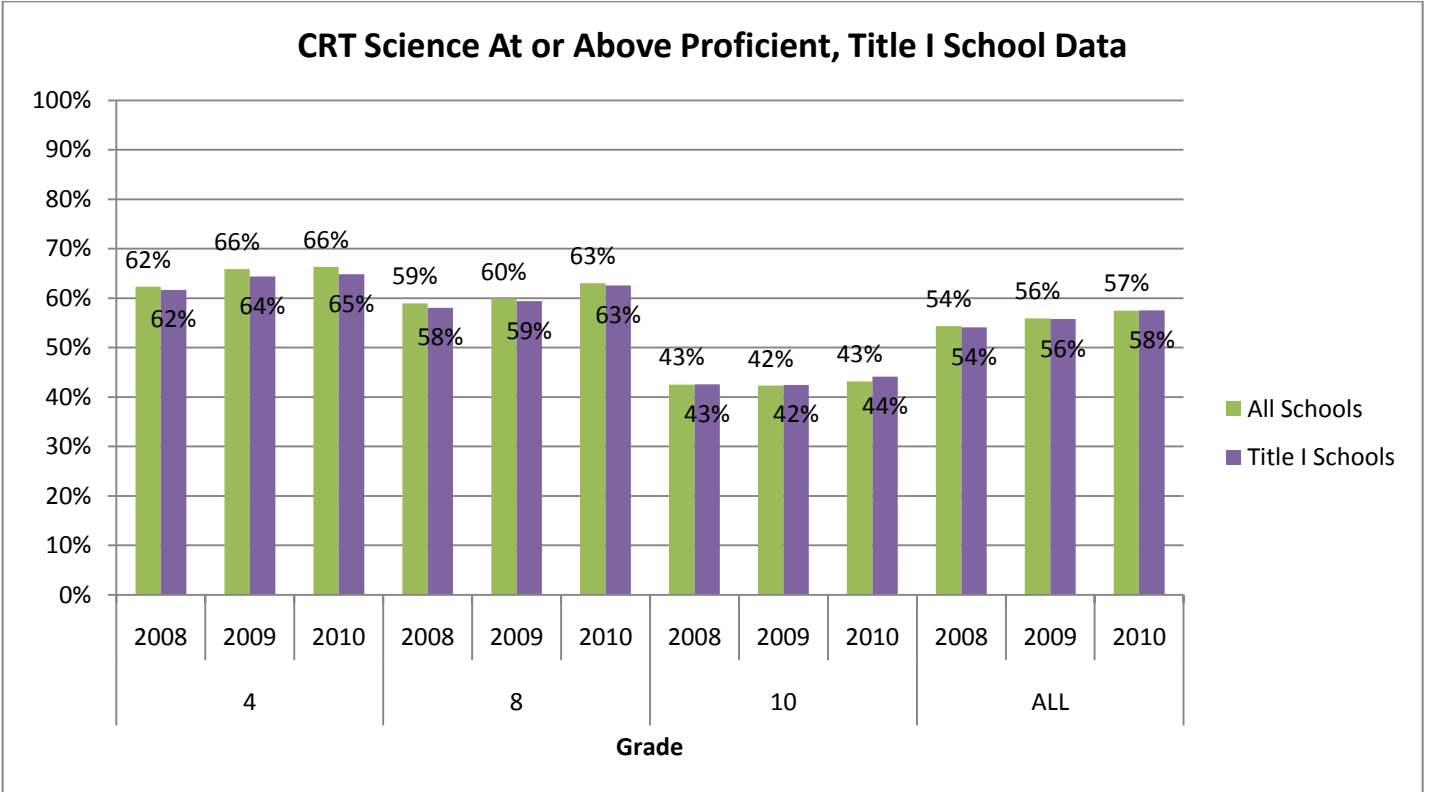

The chart below shows the percentage of students achieving at the Novice, Nearing Proficiency, Proficient, and Advanced levels for the 2009-2010 Science CRT assessment. The data are organized by the grade of the test taker and are provided for Title I (at-risk) Schools and for All Schools in Montana. Only grades 4, 8, and 10 are tested in Montana for the Science CRT Assessment.

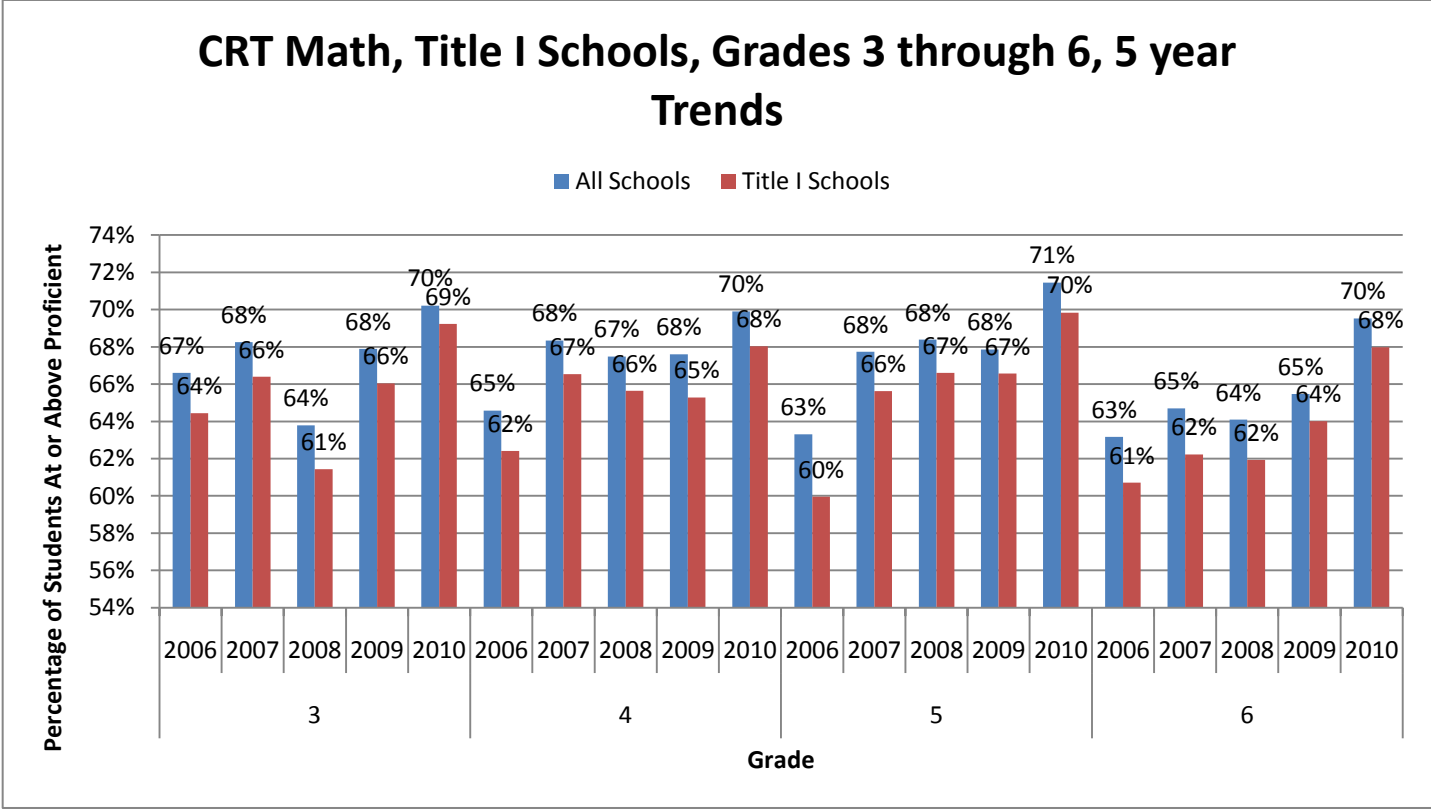

The chart below shows the percentage of students that scored at or above Proficient in the Science CRT Assessment for the three years the assessment has been offered. Data are provided for each grade assessed, for each year of the assessment, and for both Title

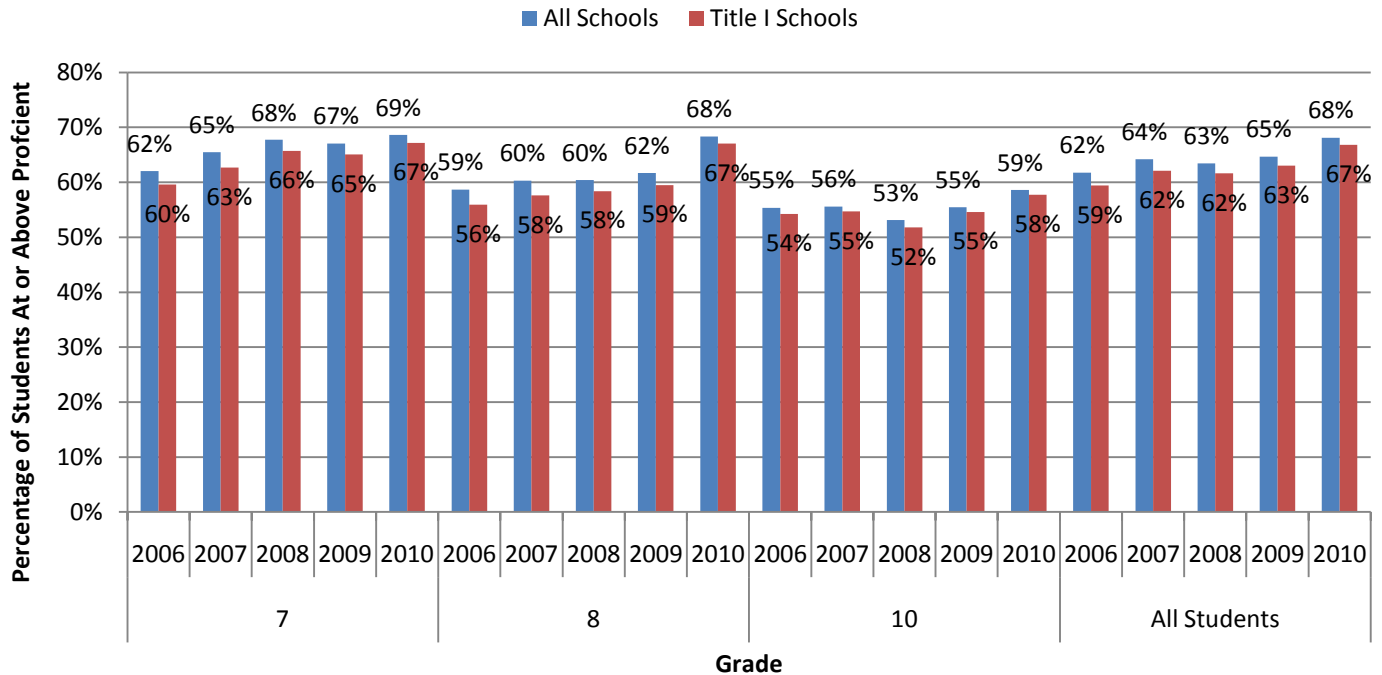

I (at-risk) Schools and for All Schools in Montana. The percentage of students scoring at or above Proficient has increased for each grade for both sets of schools over the three years of testing, and only one set (the 2009 4th grade assessment) had a difference of more than 1% between the two sets of schools.

The following two charts show the percentage of students scoring at or above Proficient on the CRT Math Assessment. Separate percentages are shown for Title I Schools and for All Schools in Montana. Data are organized by the grade of the test takers. At no grade or year does the Title I School set outscore the All Schools set, but the gap has narrowed for each set from 2006 to 2010. Percentages of students scoring at or above Proficient have increased for both sets of schools since 2008.

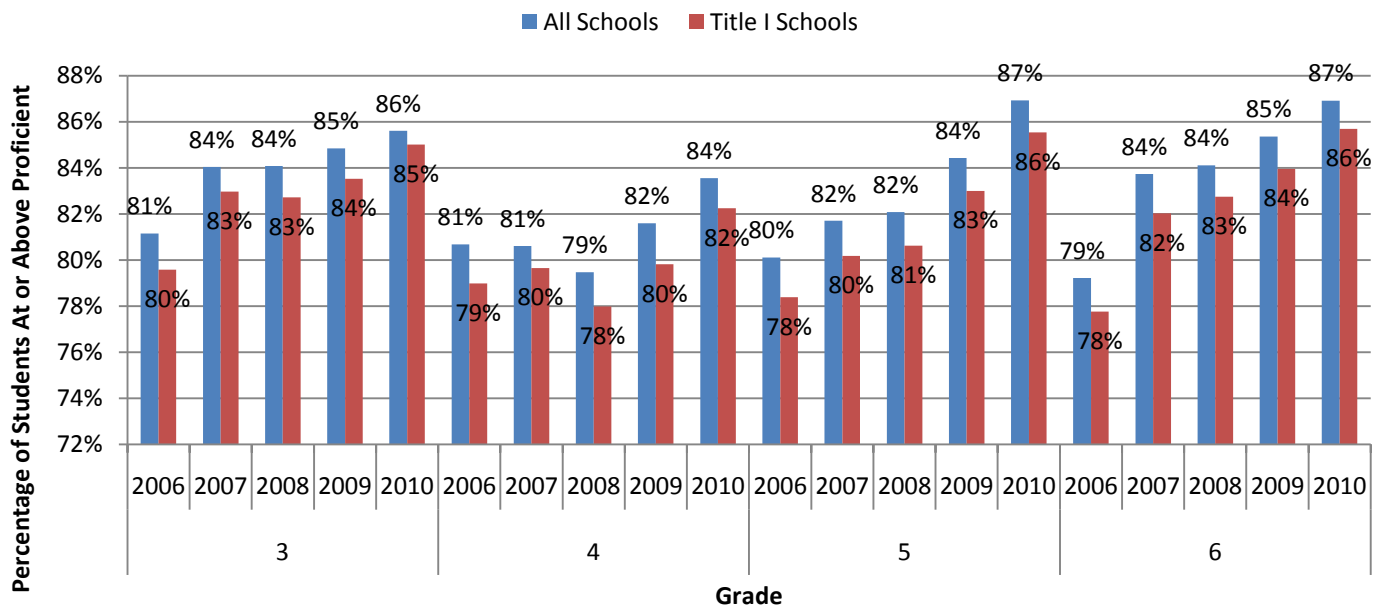

CRT Math, Title I Schools, Grades 7, 8, 10, and All Students, 5-Year Trends

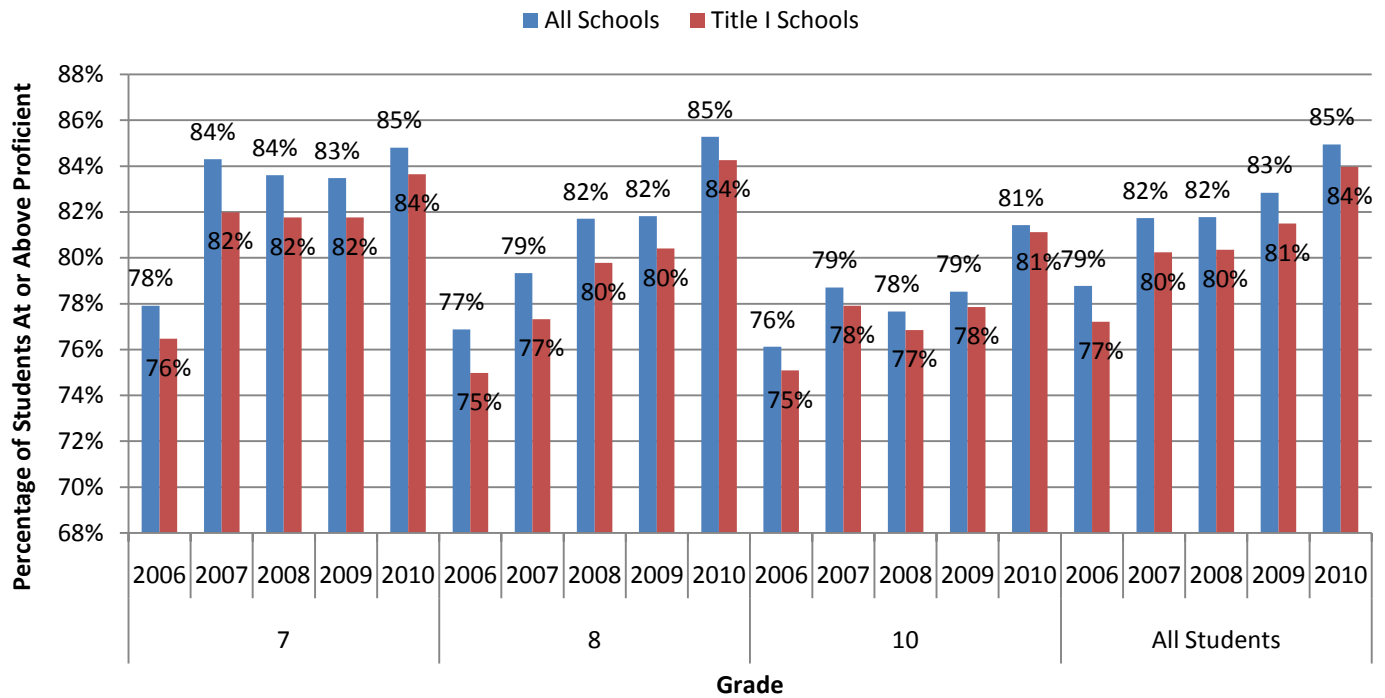

The following two charts show the percentage of students scoring at or above Proficient on the CRT Reading Assessment. Five years of data are provided, collected by the grade of the test takers. Data are provided for both Title I Schools and All Schools in Montana. The gap stayed at 1% for grade 3, 6, and 10 from 2006 through 2010. All grades showed consistent improvement for all years in both sets of schools except for grade 4, which had a drop in scores for both sets in 2008, and grade 7 in 2009.

Graduation rates – 2008-09 data

- The completion rate* for students in Title I Schools declined from 84.7% in 2006-07 to 79% in 2008-09.
- The AYP graduation rate# overall declined from 84.9% in 2006-07 to 80.7% in 2008-09.
- For Title I Schools, the AYP graduation rate declined from 84.5% in 2006-07 to 78.8% in 2008-09.

AYP Graduation Rate- Title I Schools	83.90%	84.50%	81.90%	78.80%

* Completers are the count of individuals who: completed the high school graduation requirements of a school district, including early graduates, during the previous school year, or completed the high school graduation requirements of a school district at the end of summer prior to the current school year.

Graduate is an individual who: completes a district's graduation requirements in four years or less from the time an individual enrolled in the 9th grade, or has an Individualized Education Program (IEP) allowing for more than four years to graduate.

Dropout rates – 2008-09 data

- Since the 2005-06 school year, the dropout rate for students in Title I Schools increased at a slower rate than the dropout rate for students in non-Title I Schools. This was true for the All students group and for the American Indian student group.
- Fewer schools participated in Title I in 2008-09 than in 2005-06.
- Dropout rates shown in the table below are for grades 7-12.
